

Federico Fontana

Associate Professor

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

1989

Degree in Economics and Business Studies
University of Genova

PROFESSIONAL HISTORY

2006 – ONGOING

Associate Professor in Business Economics
University of Genova

1990 – 2006

Assistant Professor in Business Economics
University of Genova

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

2015 – 2017

Vice-Dean of the School of Social Sciences
University of Genova

2014 – 2015

Coordinator of the Degree Course in Tourism Science: Business, Culture, and Territory
University of Genova

EXPERIENCE

PRIZES AND ACCOLADES FOR SCIENTIFIC ACTIVITY, INCLUDING MEMBERSHIP OF ACADEMIES

Member of the Italian Academy of Business Economics (AIDEA)

Member of the Italian Society of Accounting and Business Economics (SIDREA)

TEACHING ACTIVITY

Currently teaching Business Economics, Management Control and Cost Analysis and Planning. Previously also holder of the teachings of Business Administration, Controlling and Strategies; Budget Analysis for the Evaluation of Economic and Financial Performance; Cost Analysis and Accounting; Software Accounting; Quantitative Business Methodologies and Determinations; General Accounting; Reporting.

Further teaching activities in first and second level university master's degrees and professional training courses.

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Scientific research activities concerning the evolution of information, accounting, planning, control, evaluation and communication systems of companies as well as the management of public administrations, with the production of monographs, essays, articles in scientific and professional journals and reports at conferences and seminars.