Teaching activity

From 1991 to 2001 I have taught Contemporary History at the Faculty of Letters in Genoa. From 2001 to today I have taught the following subjects at the Department of Education Sciences of the university of Genoa: Contemporary History, Social History, History of Racism and Xenophobia.

Postgraduate research and teaching activity

Supervision of PhD students, residents and post-doctoral fellows

Is a member of the Board of Professors of the Ph.D 'Migrazioni e Processi Culturali', has followed Ph.D thesis. Has been the supervisor of a research grant.

Research interests

My interests of research lie in the history of Europe in the Twentieth century with an approach of social history, and have touched different themes: the history of labor, of Italian migration in the United States, and of healthcare. In the last years, my research has focused on the history of gender, particularly on the process of nationalization of women at the beginning of the Twentieth century. During my researches, I have given worth to the sources of popular writings and I have been among the founders of the 'Archivio Ligure della Scrittura Popolare'
