

Niccolo' Morelli

Fixed-term assistant professor

✉ niccolo.morelli@unige.it

Education and training

2020

PhD in Sociology and Social Research

Urban conviviality in Milan Bologna and Rome neighbourhoods. A mixed methods analysis on Social Streets. - Excellent

University of Bologna - Bologna - IT

2016

MA in Sociology and Social Research

The Social Street Phenomenon a research on the phenomenon in the Bolognese context. - 110/110 e lode

University of Bologna - Bologna - IT

Academic experience

2020 - 2022

Post-Doc Researcher in Sociology

Catholic University of the Sacred Heart - Milano - IT

Associationism in metropolitan marginal contexts agency advocacy and conflicts in challenging neighbourhoods 5) Youth studies inequalities lifestyles sociality political participation.

2021 - ONGOING

Adjunct Professor in Sociology

University of Padua - Rovigo - IT

Teaching in General Sociology

2021 - ONGOING

Invited Professor in Urban Sociology

Galilean School of Higher Education University of Padua - Padua - IT

Teaching at the Galilean School of Higher Education University of Padua.

Language skills

French

Proficient

Baccalauréat

Littéraire

English

Proficient

FCE

Research interests

My main research interests are on forms of conviviality in urban contexts, generational inequalities, metropolitan segregation, local welfare services, youth socialisation, social participation in association and CBOs. Currently, I am working on disparities related to digital poverty. I am interested in studying the consequences of distance learning for the younger generation living in marginal urban contexts. Moreover, with the acceleration promoted by local and national institutions about telehealth and telemedicine, I am interested in understanding what opportunities and inequalities it may entail for the different generations.

Editorial activity

Reviewer of Partecipazione e Conflitto–The Open Journal of Sociopolitical Studies, Social Science Information, Sociologia Urbana e Rurale.