Research Interests

- Psychotherapy: The significance of psychotherapy as both a human and natural science; contributions of existential-analytical psychotherapy; psychotherapy for adults and adolescents; organization of psychotherapy groups based on M. Balint's theories for physicians, psychologists, nurses, and healthcare professionals.
- Psychopharmacology: Issues in pharmacological treatment of patients with severe and treatment-resistant depression, acute and chronic psychoses, anxiety comorbid with other psychiatric and emotional disorders, and elderly patients with associated conditions.
- Suicidology: Studies on the extent of suicide risk in Italy and worldwide; individual, temperamental, and environmental risk factors; association between dissociative symptoms and suicidal behavior.
- Psychopathology: Contributions of K. Jaspers, K. Schneider, and L. Binswanger. Seminar videos available on the CESAD Institute's YouTube channel: G. Giacomo Giacomini, Scuola Psicoterapia Genova.
A fundamental theme is the need to reconcile scientific evidence (method of causal explanation) with empathy for the individual's feelings (method of emotional understanding).
- Forensic Psychiatry: The relationship between mobbing and psychopathology; the role of the Support Administrator in hospital settings.
